

NEXT JSU PRESIDENT

- The next president will inherit a University that has risen dramatically in its built environment for academic and research standing. First and foremost, the president must have the skills to keep this vibrant academic and research culture strong.
- The next president will need to seize upon the Campus's setting in our thriving urban environment. The successful candidate should pursue urban planning principles, by advocating and implementing value-added proposition for the University as an academic, research and economic development engine. For example, the Lynch Street Corridor between the main Campus and the e-Center should be strategically positioned and developed as a research and economic development corridor.
- The next president must be able to set and implement goals for growing the student population and enhancing quality programs through the use of technology and alternative methods of instruction (on-line degree programs).

- He/she should create a dynamic smart-growth environment and build on programs that develop students, faculty, and staff into strong community oriented leaders and mentors.

REQUIRED SPECIAL QUALIFICATIONS AND SKILL SETS

- Terminal degree and significant experience as a manager of people and resources (Academic/and or private sector experience).
- An out of the box strategic thinker (visionary and courageous leadership).
- Demonstrated fund-raiser.
- People-oriented and politically astute.
- Team/concensus builder and collaborative skills.

- Mission driven for the public good.
