MISSISSIPPI AREA HEALTH EDUCATION CENTER

The Mississippi Area Health Education Center (MS AHEC) commends you upon your interest in nursing as a profession. We are pleased that you are seeking information regarding the opportunities for nursing education in Mississippi. The University of Mississippi Medical Center AHEC is a statewide health professions network dedicated to improving access to health care in Mississippi's rural and underserved counties.

Mississippi Area Health Education Center (MS AHEC) is designed to enhance access to quality health care by developing a statewide AHEC program that will retain a diverse and culturally sensitive health workforce that provides the highest quality of care for all by developing partnerships with school districts, health care providers, private foundations and communities that share the AHEC's goals and missions. The primary value of MS AHEC is its focus on the elimination of health care disparities and increasing the availability, accessibility, acceptability and access of quality health care for all medically underserved populations and citizens in identified Health Professional Shortage Areas.

We are delighted to sponsor this edition of Nursing Education Opportunities in Mississippi. The MS AHEC wishes to express gratitude to Mississippi Hospital Association's Health Career Center, Mississippi Office of Nursing Workforce, and the Southwest Mississippi AHEC (Field Memorial Hospital - Centreville, MS) for their assistance and support of our efforts to address the health professions workforce shortages in our state.

Stephen L. Silberman, DMD, MPH, DrPH
Executive Director

MISSISSIPPI COUNCIL OF DEANS AND DIRECTORS OF SCHOOLS OF NURSING

Dear Reader:

Thank you for your interest in nursing education. Nursing is a unique health care profession that offers diverse opportunities for service to others. Mississippi is fortunate to have many options for nursing education.

The Nursing Education Opportunities in Mississippi booklet has been prepared to provide you with a comprehensive overview of the many different nursing programs in our state. Basic information is provided related to practical nursing (PN), associate degree (ADN) baccalaureate (BSN), master's (MSN), and doctoral (PhD) programs. You will also find information to assist you as you begin your education as a nurse or to expand your nursing education. A table is included to provide information on the programs that each school offers. The booklet also includes valuable information on general admission criteria and scholarships, as well as information about each college program.

Our state is fortunate to have the Mississippi Office of Nursing Workforce (ONW) which is dedicated to furthering research and analysis of solutions to nursing workforce issues. Information on ONW activities is included in the booklet. The Mississippi Council of Deans and Directors of Schools of Nursing appreciates and supports the work of ONW in their commitment to identify and prepare a nursing workforce that will meet the health care needs of our state.

The council also wishes to express appreciation to the Mississippi Hospital Association for their assistance in preparing this publication and to the Mississippi Area Health Education Center for providing the funding for the publication.

I wish you the best in your exploration of nursing education.

Sincerely,

Libby Mahaffey, PhD, RN
Mississippi Council of Deans and Directors of Schools of Nursing
Chairperson, 2007-2008

NURSING EDUCATION IN MISSISSIPPI

There are five types of nursing programs in Mississippi. Two types of programs prepare graduates to be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination for Registered Nurses (NCLEX-RN). These are the Associate Degree Nursing Programs and the Baccalaureate Degree Nursing Programs. Practical Nursing Programs prepare graduates to be eligible to take the National Council Licensure Examination for Practical Nurses (NCLEX-PN). A fourth program provides nurses with a Master's Degree in Nursing. The fifth and newest nursing education program in Mississippi prepares nurses with a Doctor of Philosophy Degree (Ph.D.) in Nursing.

The associate degree programs are located in 14 community or junior colleges and two public universities. The seven baccalaureate degree programs are located in five public universities and two private colleges. Five of the six master's degree programs and the two Doctor of Philosophy in nursing programs are located in public universities. The 6th master's degree program is located in a private college.

In addition to the academic programs, there is one continuing education program located at the University of Mississippi Medical Center. This program gives continuing education units which represent non-academic credits. Each continuing education unit equals 10 contact hours of instruction.

The title Registered Nurse (RN) means that a person has graduated from an approved School of Nursing, passed the national licensing examination for registered nurses, and paid a fee to practice within the state. The parameters of practice are set by law, and the control of practice is vested with the Mississippi Board of Nursing. A person may not use the title RN or practice as a nurse until the licensing examination is passed.

The state accreditation of degree programs of nursing in Mississippi is vested by state law in the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning. State accreditation of a nursing program is necessary for a graduate of that program to be eligible to take the licensing examination for RNs. State accreditation in nursing education aims to protect the autonomy and individuality of the various educational programs it serves, to provide accountability for the protections of public against ill-prepared nurses, and to assist in the transfer of students and graduates from one program to another. In order to accomplish this mission, the board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning has established "Accreditation Standards and Rules and Regulations for Mississippi Nursing Degree Programs", which all nursing programs must meet. The criteria established by the Board of Trustees for admission into nursing programs are found in Table II and III. These are minimal criteria and some schools may have standards which are higher. The standards of each school will be found in its school catalog. Movement from one level of nursing to a higher level is possible through articulation. Articulation is the process by which a person with one level of licensure or education is facilitated in the advancement of licensure of educational credentials. It is possible within the state of Mississippi for LPNs to obtain their RN license and for RNs to obtain a baccalaureate and master's degree. For specific information regarding articulation policies and procedures, contact individual colleges or universities listed in this brochure.

Practical nursing programs are located in community/junior colleges. All of the community/junior colleges which have associate degree nursing programs also have practical nursing programs. Practical nursing programs are under the supervision of the Mississippi State Board for Community and Junior Colleges. Inquiries concerning these programs should be directed to that office. Admission criteria for practical nursing programs are located in Table IV.

Inquiries concerning practical nursing program should be directed to:

1. Associate Degree Nursing Programs (ADN) prepare nurses at the basic level of entry for professional nursing practice.

Scope of Practice: AD nurses are the first level of professional caregivers. The practice of AD nursing is directed toward the promotion and protection of health and the prevention of illness for clients with both physiological and psychosocial needs across the life span. These nurses are prepared to perform a range of complex interventions safely and competently in an integrated health care system. AD nurses participate in the management of nursing care including client teaching and supervision of ancillary nursing personnel.

Length and Type of Curriculum: This nursing education pathway is available in 14 community/junior colleges and two senior universities. The program is two years in length, with the graduate receiving an Associate of Arts, Associate of Science, or Associate of Applied Science Degree.

Places of Employment: All health care settings.

Location of Programs: Alcorn State University, Copiah-Lincoln Community College, East Central Community College, Hinds Community College, Holmes Community College, Itawamba Community College, Jones County Junior College, Meridian Community College, Mississippi Delta Community College, Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Mississippi University for Women, Northeast Mississippi Community College, Northwest Mississippi Community College, Pearl River Community College, and Southwest Mississippi Community College.

2. Bachelor of Science in Nursing Programs (BSN), sometimes called "Baccalaureate Degree Nursing Programs", prepare professional nurses.

Scope of Practice: The professional nurse can practice in a variety of health care settings involving individuals, families, and communities. This nurse can assess patient needs in stable and in changing situations, plan and evaluate methods of meeting these needs, and teach and supervise beginning research skills in providing patient care in health care settings.

Length and Type of Curriculum: a college or university sponsors this nursing program. It is four years in length, with the graduate receiving a Bachelor of Science in Nursing Degree.

Places of Employment: Community health agencies, industrial settings, hospitals, nursing homes, doctors' offices, clinics, and armed services.

Location of Programs: Alcorn State University, Delta State University, Mississippi College, Mississippi University for Women, University of Mississippi Medical Center, University of Southern Mississippi, and William Carey College.

3. Master's Degree Nursing Programs: Nurse specialists are prepared for leadership roles in health care delivery systems and for collaboration with others interested in health care. They are involved in nursing research, surveys of the health needs of society, and in developing new approaches to prepare nurses to meet these needs. They are prepared to function in teaching, administration, or clinical practice as clinical nurse specialists or nurse practitioners. The specific parameters of practice in an expanded role in Mississippi are defined by law by the Mississippi Board of Nursing.

Length and Type of Curriculum: This nursing education program is sponsored by a university, varying in length from one to two years, with the graduate receiving a Master of Science or Master of Science in Nursing Degree. Nurse Practitioners must take and pass a national certification examination and meet the requirements of the Mississippi Board of Nursing in order to practice.

Places of Employment: Nursing education programs, hospitals, community health agencies, private practice, and doctors' offices.

Location of Programs: Alcorn State University, Delta State University, Mississippi University for Women, University of Mississippi Medical Center, University of Southern Mississippi, and William Carey College

4. Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Nursing Programs prepares professional nurse specialists at the highest postsecondary degree level.

Scope of Practice: Ph.D. nurses are prepared for leadership roles in complex health care delivery systems, educational systems, nursing and interdisciplinary research and unique nursing practice.

Length and Type of Curriculum: The length of time required for Ph.D. education in nursing ranges from three to seven years or more and is individually determined.

Places of Employment: Colleges and universities, medical centers, integrated health delivery systems, corporations, government agencies private foundations, consultant practices, and entrepreneurial endeavors.

Location of Programs: University of Mississippi Medical Center and University of Southern Mississippi.

5. Practical Nursing Programs (PN)

Scope of Practice: The practical nursing program prepares the individual to assist in providing general nursing care requiring basic knowledge of the biological, physical, behavioral, psychological and sociological sciences, and of nursing procedures which do not require the substantial skills, judgment, and knowledge of a registered nurse. This care is performed under the direction of a registered nurse, licensed physician, or dentist.

Length and Type of Curriculum: The practical nursing program is located in 15 community/junior colleges and is a 12-month certificate program. Successful completion of the program allows the graduate to apply for LPN licensure.

Places of Employment: Hospitals, nursing homes, doctors' offices, and home health agencies.

MISSISSIPPI OFFICE OF NURSING WORKFORCE

One of the most innovative state nursing workforce centers in the country, the Mississippi Office of Nursing Workforce (ONW) was founded in 1996, when the Mississippi Nurses Association (MNA) successfully lobbied the state legislature to pass the Nursing Workforce Redevelopment Act. The Act authorized the Mississippi Board of Nursing (MBON) to establish an entity to address changes influencing the nursing workforce. The Mississippi Office of Nursing Workforce (ONW) was established through combined funding from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the Mississippi Legislature, as well as other partnering agencies.

ONW Initiatives

Annual Nursing Workforce Needs Survey - Conducting an annual nursing workforce needs survey, utilizing a manpower prediction model for staffing, to create a statewide database of nursing supply and demand statistics for Mississippi healthcare employers and other stakeholders.

Nursing Workforce Policy Research - Providing workforce data and analysis to assist in development of nursing workforce policy, identifying policy issues, and recommending strategy to proactively address these issues.

Expanding Partnerships - Expanding partnerships between education, service, and the community to promote a strong, supportive infrastructure.

Continuing Education Needs Analysis - Identifying continuing education and training needs of the nursing workforce and making recommendations to meet those needs.

MISSISSIPPI COMPETENCY MODEL

The Mississippi Competency Model is the culmination of a collaborative effort of many nursing organizations in the state of Mississippi. It was developed for the purpose of enhancing the education and practice of Mississippi nurses and was implemented in 1997. The desired outcome of this collaboration and development of the model was to facilitate articulation for Mississippi nurses within programs offering higher degrees in nursing and to assist employers in understanding the differences in expected skill sets based on educational degrees.

To achieve these objectives, ONW worked with the Mississippi Council of Deans and Directors and representatives from Mississippi Association of Practical Nurse Educators to develop core competencies for each educational level offered in the state. Drafts of the Model were critiqued by members of the Mississippi Nurses Association (MNA), Nursing Organizations Liaison Committee (NOLC), representatives of the Mississippi Organization of Nurse Executives (MONE) and faculty members in schools of nursing in the state prior to its publication. The process used to develop the Model is described in the 1997 publication entitled "Mississippi Competency Model" (Eichelberger) and in "Competency Model 101: The Process of Developing Core Competencies" (Eichelberger & Hewlett, 1999).

In March 1999, ONW received an additional three-year round of funding from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation as one of 20 participants in Stage II of the Colleagues in Caring grant initiative. The second phase of ONW project funding included the goals of defining the broad concept of "competency", testing and evaluating the Competency Model in academia and service, and revising the Model to include PhD competencies.

The Mississippi Competency Model has been a unifying force for nursing education in the state. The process of developing the Model has led to an increased understanding and valuing of the differences and uniqueness in the roles and competencies of nurses with varying educational backgrounds. The Model has been found to be congruent with the outcomes of all types of nursing degrees offered in Mississippi. Therefore, schools of nursing can use the Model as the basis for designing curricula and policies designed to improve the articulation of educational programs and upward mobility of nurses in Mississippi and move toward that end.

COMPETENCIES

PROVIDER: The nurse, utilizing a systematic process, assists clients* in meeting health care needs in a wide variety of settings. The nurse coordinates the care of clients using a multidisciplinary approach.

	LPN	ADN	BSN	MSN
Care Giver	Provides client care, using an established plan to meet basic health needs, under the direction of qualified health professionals.	Plans, coordinates, implements and evaluates nursing care designed to promote and/or maintain healthy outcomes for clients.	Coordinates, implements and evaluates nursing care designed to promote and/or maintain healthy outcomes for clients. Evaluates theoretical and research-based interventions for their applicability to nursing practice.	Provides and evaluates comprehensive, integrated care utilizing specialized knowledge and expertise to promote and/or maintain healthy outcomes for clients.
Teacher	Provides basic health teaching for clients, with identified health needs, using an established teaching plan.	Designs, implements and evaluates teaching plans of care for clients.	Designs, coordinates, implements and evaluates comprehensive teaching plan(s) for clients.	Designs, implements and evaluates comprehensive teaching programs for clients and health personnel.
Communicator/ Counselor (User of Information Technology)	Establishes and participates in a therapeutic relationship with clients. Uses information necessary to provide basic care for clients.	Establishes and maintains therapeutic relationships with clients. Uses technology for the improvement of client care.	Establishes and manages therapeutic relationships with clients. Integrates multiple technological resources into the delivery of client care.	Develops and evaluates therapeutic relationships with clients. Develops, implements and evaluates counseling strategies. Creates manages and evaluates the usefulness of databases. Evaluates information systems for the improvement of client care.
Advocate	Recognizes issues related to protection of consumers' rights and notifies RN/MD on behalf of client to protect those rights.	Uses knowledge of consumers' rights and responsibilities to plan care for and intervene on behalf of clients. Is aware of health policy and its impact on clients' care.	Disseminates information to increase the knowledge level of clients about health policy and consumer rights and responsibilities. Acts to uphold these rights.	Assumes a leadership role in intervening on behalf of clients to uphold and protect consumers' rights. Engages in health policy development.

*Clients - The recipients of nursing care. Clients for licensed practical and associate degree nurses include individuals, families, and groups. Clients for baccalaureate and masters prepared nurses include individuals, families, groups and the community. For the purpose of this definition, the community as a client is viewed as a group of individuals living in a geographically related area, sharing common resources and whom others identify as having a relationship

MEMBER OF A PROFESSION: The nurse is accountable for the ethical, legal and professional dimensions of the practice of nursing.

	LPN	ADN	BSN	MSN
Scholar (researcher)	Assumes responsibility for professional development and commitment to life long learning. Recognizes the role research plays in the delivery of client care.	Pursues professional development as it relates to the improvement of healthcare. Uses interpreted nursing research findings to improve client outcomes.	Pursues and communicates knowledge as it relates to the improvement of health care. Incorporates research findings into practice and consults with nurse researchers regarding identified nursing problems in order to enhance nursing practice.	Pursues, develops and communicates advanced knowledge as it relates to the improvement of health care. Participates in designing and conducting research specific to the improvement of client outcomes.

Uses established ethical frameworks to monitor and influence health care practices.

COMPETENCIES

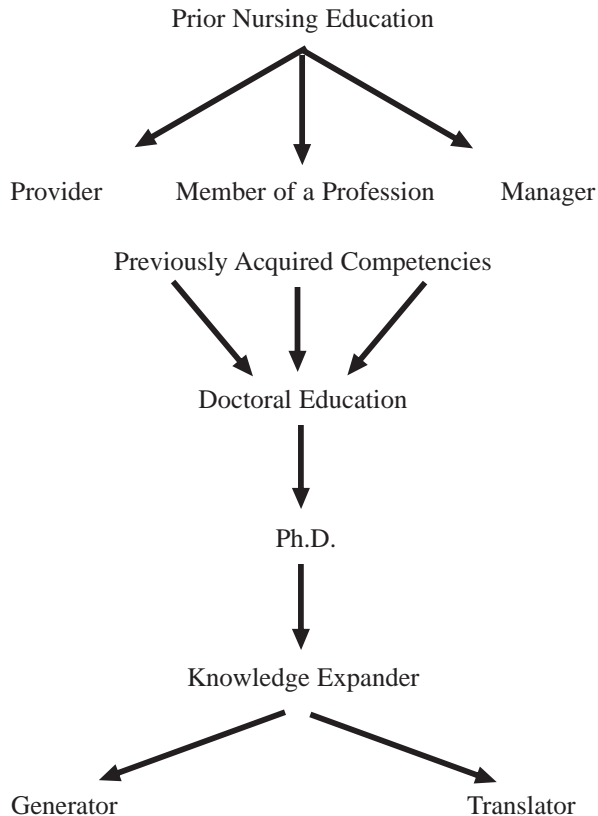

MANAGER: The nurse optimizes resources to achieve desired outcomes for the promotion of health in client populations.

	LPN	ADN	BSN	MSN
Leader (Entrepreneur)	Demonstrates basic management concepts in the provision of client care. Uses knowledge of traditional and alternative care delivery systems in the care of clients. Is receptive to changes in health care.	Works with other health care personnel to coordinate care to improve client outcomes. Participates in implementing traditional and alternative care delivery system. Adapts practice to respond to rapid changes in health care.	Assumes an influential role in planning, managing and monitoring health care to improve client outcomes. Assists in the development and evaluation of traditional and alternative care delivery systems. Plans for implementation of changes in health care.	Provides visionary direction to create, modify, evaluate and enhance the effectiveness of health care systems through monitoring client outcomes. Participates in the establishment and systematic evaluation of client care provided by traditional and alternative care delivery systems. Anticipate, designs and implements needed changes in health care.
Facilitator	Participates in group process to promote the provision of nursing care.	Uses knowledge of group dynamics to improve client outcomes.	Serves as a leader in group process.	Advances group efforts to improve the delivery and quality of health care to multiple constituents utilizing the expertise and skill of nurses and other professional.
Decision Maker	Uses critical thinking and problem solving in making decisions about basic health care needs.	Uses critical thinking and problem solving approaches as a basis for nursing practice.	Uses critical thinking and problem solving to address complex health issues.	Challenges assumptions and explores alternative avenues in the improvement of client outcomes.

The 2002 Mississippi Competency Model includes four roles for the Ph.D. nurse. The placement of the 4th role, Knowledge Expander is consistent with the 1997 Mississippi Competency Model. The 4th role is unique to the Ph.D. nurse but builds upon all prior competencies. Therefore the structure of the revised model includes the first 3 roles of Provider, Member of a Profession and Manger and is followed by the 4th role and the 2 PhD competencies. A schematic representation of how the doctoral role and competencies relate to the roles and competencies previously established in the Model for other educational degrees is presented in Figure 1.

RELATIONSHIP OF ROLES AND COMPETENCIES MISSISSIPPI COMPETENCY MODEL

ROLES WITHIN THE 1997 MODEL

The competencies listed for the roles of Provider, Member of a Profession and Manager in the 1997 Model are attained as a result of prior educational experiences. These competencies are valid and integral to the outcomes of the graduates of Ph.D. programs in nursing. However, due to the nature of doctoral education and the expectations of a doctorally prepared nurse, the roles of Provider, Member of a Profession and Manager, are not, in and of themselves, sufficient to describe the roles and expected competencies of a Ph.D. graduate. The Ph.D. nurse is expected to be competent in the roles of Provider, Member of a Profession and Manager and comes to the doctoral educational process possessing the competencies of prior educational experiences. This relationship is depicted in Figure 2. In addition to prior formal education, career paths, interests and life experiences add other dimensions to the nurse who is seeking doctoral education and ultimately affect the role of the doctorally prepared nurse.

SUMMARY

The revised Mississippi Competency Model is a graphic representation of the four roles nurses assume when delivering care to others. The role of Provider, Member of a Profession and Manager are common to all nurses regardless of their educational preparation. The 4th role of Knowledge Expander is unique to the Ph.D. nurse and requires the ability to perform the other nursing roles listed in the Model as well.

The competencies set forth in the Model offer broad standards of expectation for graduate nurses holding various educational degrees. While broad in scope, the competencies provide direction for organizing and classifying specific interventions, making possible the grouping of nursing knowledge, skills and abilities according to educational preparation.

CONCLUSION

The Mississippi Competency Model is the result of a collaborative effort of nursing leaders across the state and it was created for the purpose of enhancing the education and practice of Mississippi nurses. The Model has been used in a variety of ways by Mississippi nurses as well as nurses across the United States. The Model has been used as an evaluation tool for new graduates and nursing programs and for curricular development and revision.

The Model is the beginning framework around which nursing interventions can be organized. While the Model, in and of itself, lacks the specificity to classify all nursing skills that comprise the discipline of nursing, what the Model does offer is a framework by which Mississippi nurses can begin to differentiate competency based nursing practice.

But perhaps, the greatest contribution of the Model lies not with the Model as a product but in the Model as process. The current and future use of the 2002 Mississippi Competency Model will forever be dependent on the process by which the document was created, the lessons learned by working together to accomplish the task and the way in which the Model continues to be used to determine competency based practice.

Defining the roles and competencies for all educational levels is a significant accomplishment and the Mississippi Competency Model has shown it is congruent with the outcomes of educational programs throughout the state. The process of nurses working together to define what should be expected of a nurse by virtue of the degree held has been equally valuable. It is the hope of ONW that the legacy of the Mississippi Competency Model will be that of providing the basis for seamless articulation and upward mobility for nurses and beginning the efforts to define the work of the nurse thereby allowing nursing workforce demands to be projected and met.

SCHOLARSHIPS

There are many ways to finance nursing education on the federal, state, and college levels. A brief listing of name and/or scholarships, grants, and loans is given below. Specific scholarship information on funding nursing education may be obtained by contacting the Financial Aid Office at the Institutions of Higher Learning, the Mississippi Hospital Association, and/or the colleges or universities listed in this brochure.

National/Federal Level

Pell Grants, Stafford Loans, Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants, Perkins Loans, PLUS loans for parents, Nursing Student Loans, Students from Disadvantaged Background, Loan Repayment in Shortage Areas, SUPEN. In addition to these federal programs, the United States Armed Forces and the Veterans Administration have scholarships providing up to full tuition and expenses for nursing education. Contact the nurse recruiter in the various branches for more specific information. The American Association of Colleges of Nursing sponsors the Nursing Education Assured Access Program which helps students finance a BSN or higher degree in nursing. For more information write: Nursing Education Assured Access Program, P.O. Box 407, Beltsville, MD 20705.

State

The Nursing Education Loan/Scholarship Program from the Institutions of Higher Learning (IHL) includes awards for students pursuing RN to BSN, BSN, MSN, or doctoral degrees. There is also the Nursing Teacher Stipend Program (NTSP) for students planning to teach in institutions of higher learning in Mississippi. Information about loan/scholarship programs from the IHL may be obtained by writing: Mississippi Office of Student Financial Aid, Institutions of Higher Learning, 3825 Ridgewood Road, Jackson, MS 39211-6453, (601) 432-6997 or 1-800-327-2980 (toll free in Mississippi). Nursing Education Scholarships for BSN Education may also be available from Mississippi Hospitals and Agencies (See Table V for the listing of agencies that may provide nursing scholarships) for the Mississippi Nurses' Association (RNs only). Information about other loan/scholarship programs may be obtained from listed agencies.

College/University Level

Each college or university has various sources of scholarships and loans to fund nursing education including private agencies, endowments, and work-study. For more information, contact the financial aid office or school of nursing of your choice.
